

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
DATE: July 1, 2004

CONTACT: KIM MOORE
PHONE: (617) 797 7233

SWEET POLITICKING AT FINALE DESSERTERIE
LOCAL BUSINESSES CAPITALIZE ON DNC

BOSTON—The authorities are closing the highway, the subway and the airspace around Boston for the DNC, so local businesses are getting creative in luring delegate dollars during the Democratic National Convention.

Finale Desserterie & Bakery has decorated their signature Molten Chocolate Cake with a dark cocoa donkey tuille, the unofficial mascot for the Democratic Party. The sweet ass will sit atop the baked-to-order cake, served with espresso gelato and milk chocolate covered almonds (suggested wine pairing Williams & Humbert Solera Especial 15 Year Old Sherry [Jerez, Spain]).

“Heck, a chocolate donkey! Why not?” jokes Kim Moore, co-owner and head of marketing.

To indulge in the decadent pastry, visit Finale during the week of the convention, July 23rd-30th, after 6:00 p.m. in either Finale location. Late seatings available.

Finale is a fine dining dessert restaurant with locations in downtown Boston and in Harvard Square. Visit www.finaledesserts.com for more information. Photography available: Contact Kim Moore at (617) 338-3095 or kim@finaledesserts.com.

© Finale/Stephanie Mitchell Photography